Miss Hope, Principal of Boston Cooking School, says:

"I take great pleasure in saying that as Principal of the Boston Public Schools of Cookery, I have used several different makes of ranges, but consider the Crawford the best of them all. It uses less coal and gives a more even heat than any range I have ever met with. So far as I can see, the Crawford Range is PERFECT."

The Massachusetts state board of agriculture will hold its 43d public winter meeting for lectures and discussions at Horticultural Hall, Worcester, on Dec. 5, 6 and 7 next. These meetings are held annually and the lectures delivered included in the annual report of the Board. The programme prepared by the committee in charge is as up-to-date and attractive as any ever presented to an agricultural audience. Worcester being centrally located a large audience of farmers, their families and others interested in agriculture is looked for.

An interesting article entitled "The Field Work of a Physiography Class on a Glacial Problem," by George W. Low of the Bordenstown Military Institute, Bordenstown, N. J., formerly of the faculty of Pynchard school, appeared in the October number of the Journal of Geography. The article deals wholly with the glacial delta in the vicinity of Pomp's pond, and is from the work done by the local high school. Maps and sketches are used to illustrate the outline.

Guild Meeting.

The usual monthly meeting of the Directors of the Guild was held at the Guild house on Tuesday evening. The committee in charge of the Boys club reported work already organized for three evenings in the week. Mr. Peacock of the Theological Seminary has general oversight of the club, while special teachers come in for instruction in sloyd and cane seating of chairs. One evening is devoted to amusement, games, talks, songs, etc.

Rescue Work.

A remarkable work has been carried on for the last two or three years by Miss Edith E. Marshall at Welcome House, No. 9 Florence street, Boston. Miss Marshall was an English girl, who joined the Salvation Army and worked with it for several years. She then entered the Episcopal church and came to Boston, with a heart full of eagerness to do something for those unfortunate girls who find no refuge before them but the streets. By her energy and eloquence she has been enabled to open a house, where any girl in need of a welcome is sure to find it, and where she may remain for a year or more, till she has been taught to work and provided with a place. Many have been saved in this way from despair or shame and have found good homes or established homes of their own. Miss Marshall will tell of her work in Christ church next Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock. She is young and full of enthusiasm and charm, and cannot fail to interest.

LAWRENCE

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

FORE RIVER'S THIRD VICTORY.

For the third week in succession Fore River visited Lawrence and as on the two previous occasions the victory was an easy one, Lawrence being beaten 5 goals to 1. It was expected that Fore River would turn out the strongest team it has played this season, but Connors at half and Lyons and McDavitt were unable to play. Manager Fraser was again pressed into service and took McAllister's place at left back, the latter playing right half. There were several changes in the Lawrence team from the preceding Saturday, the whole front line being re-arranged. Casey who played half was put forward and Teale took his place. Guthrie, Kinlock and Cockrell were given a trial and did fairly well, but the constant changing was detrimental to good team playing.

The shipbuilders did not play as good a game as they are capable of, but they held the locals safely and were never in trouble. Lynch in goal had very little to do, but Ritchie of the Lawrence team had the credit of scoring the only goal made during the three games played here by Fore River.

Conley the centre forward of the visitors, was in great form and scored three of five goals credited to his side. Nuttall and Forsythe scored the others. Lewis as usual played a fine game and his shooting was good, although not successful.

W. Connors officiated as referee and gave general satisfaction. The teams were: Fore River—Goal, Lynch; backs, Artis, Fraser; halves, McAllister, McGregor, MacDonald; forwards, Nuttall, Lewis, Conley, McEwen, Forsythe. Lawrence—Goal, Williams; backs, Turton, Stevenson; halves, O'Dea, Timms, Teale; forwards, Guthrie, Cockrell, Kinlock, Casey, Ritchie.

Referee, W. Connors; linesmen, McCaffrey, Fore River; Wright, Lawrence.

METHUEN 1; QUINCY 0.

Methuen visited Quincy Saturday afternoon and met the granite cutters in a league contest which was one of the most stubbornly contested games of the season. The winning of the game meant much for both teams and this added interest to the contest.

Both teams were strong on the defence but Pollitt was more fortunate in keeping this goal intact, while McLeod of Quincy was beaten once, the only goal scored during 85 minutes of play. The teams were:

Methuen—Goal, Pollitt; backs, Littleton, Walter Briggs; halves, Edleson, Lobb, Darcy; forwards, Ankers, Wm. Briggs, Hamer, Tart, Jennings. Quincy—Goal, McLeod; backs, Cordner, T. Smith; halves, J. Smith, T. Robertson, Malcolm; forwards, Phillips, Anderson, R. Robertson, Souden, Craig. Referee, McVicar of Fore River; Linesmen, Raleigh, Edwards.

MERRIMACKS 4; ROVERS 4.

At Jamaica Plain Saturday the Merrimacks played a hard game with the Boston Rovers and managed to divide the points thereby giving the Hubites a setback in the league race.

The Merrimacks had a strong team in the field and were in great scoring mood putting on four goals, the most they have scored in any game this year.

The Rovers also had an eye for goals and got a like number. The Merrimacks tried Campbell at centre forward and Reed, a new man, was between the posts. Sandy McCluskey got the goals again and played strongly as did the other two halves. Grieves scored for the Rovers from a penalty and Campbell, Lamb and Houston got the other goals.

Davis was responsible for two of the Merrimacks goals and Pangburn and McCluskey the others.

The teams were: Merrimacks—Goal, Reed; backs, Smith, Paton; halves, Clark, A. McCluskey, W. Matthews; forwards, Ross, Campbell, Davis, D. McCluskey, Pangburn. Boston Rovers—Goal, Cosgrove; backs, Wilkerson, Grieves; halves, Cairnie, J. Martin, J. Smith; forwards, McGaffey, Houston, Gallagher, Campbell, Lamb.

MAY PLAY ON BROTHERS FIELD.

It is hoped that Fore River may be induced to play its first game at Andover some Saturday in December. If arrangements can be made, the game may be played on Brothers' field, the athletic field of Phillips Academy. The permission of the faculty has been asked and a favorable reply is hoped for. The contest would be worth seeing for the teams are easily the best in the league. It would also serve to illustrate the game to the followers of American Rugby.

Fore River's goal record in its three trips to Lawrence was 10 to 1. The Lawrence team got the only goal.

The race among the second division of the league clubs is a warm one. Merrimacks did well to tie the Rovers Saturday for the city and are hard to beat on their own grounds.

The last game next Saturday in this district will be Quincy at Andover. The stone cutters are an aggressive lot.

FOX HUNT IN NORTH READING.

Selectman Joseph W. Holden of Stoneham was the hero at North Reading Wednesday of the second annual fox hunt of the Sportsman's Protective association of eastern Middlesex. At 5 p. m. when 100 tired and hungry sportsmen were at dinner, Holden arrived at Flint Memorial hall with an 11-pound fox shot by him on the Marblehead road, the only Reynard seen. Allen Hinton of this town took a prominent part in the hunt.

The day's quest began at 8.30 a. m., when 100 men in khaki, armed with shotguns and accompanied by 60 dogs, spread out like an animated fan over the region of the county and so-called Marblehead roads in the northern section of the town. The weather conditions were excellent for holding the scent, but the quarry was missing. The only bags made were rabbits, partridges, snipes and gray squirrels.

A reason for the success is characterized largely to what the club members characterize as unsportsmanlike action on the part of a number of hunters from Lynn, who had accepted an invitation to join the day's sport, but who came here last night with a dozen dogs and started out at 4.30 in the morning and scoured the country ahead of the later party.

But Joe Holden stuck to his task, and brought in a fox, thus saving the day for the association. The party comprised members from Woburn, Salem, Lynnfield, Byfield, Georgetown, Melrose, Somerville, Peabody, Reading, North Reading, Boston, Malden, Roxbury, Charlestown, Cambridge, Waltham, Andover, Danvers, Lynn, Wilmington, Wakefield, Burlington, Watertown.

A special guest was Fletcher Robie of the National Sportsman. A score of new members was secured at the dinner, the present membership reaching nearly 300.

Among those participating in the hunt were: David G. Whelan, A. P. Joll, R. S. Tarbox, George E. Hobbs, A. L. Legro, William Allen, W. H. Hadley, M. E. Cobbleigh, N. F. Ives, Fred Skinner, W. R. Wheeler, Elbridge Gerry, Frank Marden, Ernest H. Ives, Orrin P. Tarbox, F. W. Rink, H. B. Wiley, Daniel Eaton, George Baxter, S. D. Orne, F. B. Maynard, L. C. Durkee, Benjamin Pearson, Levi Merrill, J. Joseph W. Holden, F. E. Merrill, F. D. Merrill, J. E. Goodwin, W. H. Deoran, H. G. Frost, E. H. Webster, Gurtl C. R. Forsythe, Edward Dannehy, T. A. Frost.

The teams were: Merrimacks—Goal, Reed; backs, Smith, Paton; halves, Clark, A. McCluskey, W. Matthews; forwards, Ross, Campbell, Davis, D. McCluskey, Pangburn. Boston Rovers—Goal, Cosgrove;

Boston Rovers—Goal, Cosgrove;

ETHEL BARRYMORE'S RISE AS AN ACTRESS.

Clyde Fitch, the playwright, is dealt with in the November American Illustrated Magazine, as the man behind the stars, the maker of actresses. Perhaps the most brilliant example of the making of an actress—seen in the illustrious string of Fitch-made stars—was the writing of "Capt. Jinks of the Horse Marines" for Ethel Barrymore. Under the spell of her prettiness and charm, the great public protested that it was more than a matter of taste, but a matter of necessity—it was the work of great comedy acting. To establish Miss Barrymore as a popular favorite was not difficult—it is doubtful if there is more than one American actress who attracts such happy crowds as she. But to convince the skeptical that her make-up was other than three-fourths personality to one-fourth ability was a stroke that none but Fitch could have accomplished. And so convincingly did he succeed that, after playing the role of Madame Trenton in as many American cities as two years of travel could reach, the impression was general and far-reaching that Miss Barrymore was a true actress. Clyde Fitch had known and studied Ethel Barrymore several years before Charles Frohman shrewdly chose slightly heightened reproduction of her fascinating self.

MADE SURE OF BREAKFAST.

They were an elderly country couple paying their first visit to this city. The old gentleman had registered, and the bellboy stood near with their valises, waiting to escort them to their room. Just before entering the elevator the good wife said something in an undertone to her husband, and he hurried back to the desk.

"I forgot to tell you, young man," he said to the clerk, "we shall wait breakfast in the morning. Nothin' extra you know; just a couple of eggs and some chops and coffee, with the usual fixin'."

The clerk smiled and mentioned the fact that the dining room was at their service. "Well, I just thought I'd tell you so you could make allowances and have enough to go round," said the old gentleman, as he hurried to the register and assured her that he was now no danger of a shortage in food owing to their unexpected arrival.

A Sorosis Lesson

WHAT is a fit in an ordinary shoe is not a fit in Sorosis; they do not stretch. The shoe is built to fit its counterpart in the human foot. The lesson taught us by experience is that a woman once perfectly fitted in Sorosis never changes. She is more than satisfied; in fact has practically her own private last.

Bosses Beaten and Corruption Rebuked by Conscience Vote In City and State Elections—Jerome Triumphant at New York. Hearst Contesting McClellan's Plurality on Fraud Charges—Philadelphia and Cincinnati Are Redeemed. Disfranchisement Rejected by Maryland.

POLITICAL

The Chief Election Results.

Pennsylvania, which last year rolled up nearly a half million majority for Roosevelt, did a big stunt of local house cleaning by placing the state treasury in the hands of Chester's reform mayor, William Berry, named by Democrats and endorsed by independents, with a majority in the neighborhood of 100,000 over the regular Republican candidate, Plummer. The main foundation of this rebuke was seen in the emancipation of the great city of Philadelphia from the chains of the piratical crew which for years had worn the livery of Republicanism and which by corrupt methods had made the city its stronghold. Mayor Weaver was vindicated in the sweeping victory of the City party by a majority of 25,000 over the old ring, while Durham and Penrose met their Waterloo. The reformed police force saved the day by promptly checking corrupt practices and permitting a free, popular expression.

Massachusetts went Republican, Guild getting 23,000 majority for governor, but Draper so narrow a margin over Whitney for lieutenant governor that Democrats proposed to contest.

New York city likewise jolted the bosses of both party machines and demonstrated a great principle of popular sovereignty by re-electing District Attorney Jerome by over 16,000 plurality in the endorsement of any party or organization and in spite of necessary ticket splitting. Mayor McClellan was declared elected by the narrow plurality of 4,000 on the face of the returns, but William R. Hearst, the Municipal Ownership candidate, claimed to be elected and began a contest in the courts to prove the charges of extensive Tammany frauds.

Rhode Island Republicans experienced a landslide, Governor Uter being returned with a margin of 4,034 votes over Garvin, Single Taxer and Democrat.

San Francisco's labor ticket won out with a majority of 11,504 over that of Republican and Democratic fusion, Eugene E. Schmitz being re-elected mayor.

Ohio's splendid Republican organization, under the guidance of Foraker, Herrick, Dick and Cox, went down to decisive defeat. Patterson, the Democratic candidate, carrying the state for governor on the anti-boss and anti-liquor issues. Cox, the Cincinnati boss, was retired, thus showing the strength of Taft and Roosevelt among the people. Patterson's plurality was over 30,000.

Maryland overwhelmed Senator Gorman by defeating his negro disfranchising amendment by 30,000 plurality. Nebraska remained Republican with majorities ranging from 10,000 to 25,000.

Indianapolis was carried by the Republicans, but in the town elections of Indiana honors were about even.

Chicago Republicans won on many city and county offices.

Kentucky's senatorial contest indicated the probable retirement of Blackburn.

Virginia Democrats carried their state ticket by over 20,000.

Cleveland re-elected Mayor Johnson for a third term.

Salt Lake, Utah, passed out of the through the work of vandals who used nitroglycerin or fulminate of mercury near the magazines of the Rand Powder company, the officers of that company exploded 2,000 kegs of mining powder valued at $10,000. The concussion was tremendous, but the explosion made no such hole in the ground as had been found after the fatal explosion of Sept. 9.

Chadwick Sentence Upheld.

The circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati has upheld the decision of Judge Taylor of Cleveland in sentencing Mrs. Cassie Chadwick to ten years in the state prison for her forgeries. Mrs. Chadwick's attorneys announced their intention of carrying the case to the supreme court.

Official Aid of Massacres.

In a note issued by Russia's new leader, Count Witte, the admission was made that in certain cases the massacre of the Jews were encouraged by local administrative officers. The present government is not disposed to ignore or conceal this fact, but asserts that there are enemies of the new system who are opposing by every means in their power the realization of the reforms. It was impossible to replace immediately all of the old officers with new ones in sympathy with a liberal regime. Many of the local officials concerned in the outrages confessed that they were ordered so to act by their superiors, and this intensified the national demand for the retirement of General Trepoft. The Odessa city council voted $25,000 for the prosecution of the slayers. At Tomsk, Siberia, 600 men, women and children were burned in a theater while the police and troops looked on.

A doctor at Kiev estimates that 25,000 Jews in all have been massacred, including 1,000 women and children who were outraged and strangled. It is asserted that the police organized the murderous mobs, distributed liquor to them and pointed out the houses of the Jews. The booty was shared by the Cossacks, who shot any one that tried to escape.

The revolutionary party leaders evidently decided to check the popular uprising, at least for the moment, in view of the czar's quite radical concessions, but it was believed that calling off the strikes and other demonstrations was agreed upon only to gain time for the further organization of a regular military rebellion. Among the czar's later concessions is the promise of a constitution for Finland, making the secretary of state responsible to the diet and not to the czar. Prince Hilkoft, the minister of railways, resigned.

Russian Sailors and Soldiers Mutiny.

The great Russian stronghold at Cronstadt was the scene of an extensive sailors' mutiny, Nov. 9, in which many soldiers and civilians joined, resulting in a carnival of murder, burning and pillage. Ten unpopular officers were among the slain. The town was burning all day, the flames being plainly seen from St. Petersburg and the windows of the czar's palace at Peterhof. All the available troops in the St. Petersburg district were concentrated at Cronstadt to quell mutinies. Trepoft was compelled to tender his resignation as military dictator of St. Petersburg in the hope of staying off further popular uprisings, and the czar agreed to immediate universal suffrage.

Warship For Santo Domingo.

At Macoris, a port on the south side of Santo Domingo, an effort has been made to start a revolution against the Morales government, and an American warship has been ordered to that point from the Caribbean squadron commanded by Rear Admiral Bradford.

Palma Wants More Soldiers.

Notwithstanding the oft repeated claim made by the friends of the Cuban government that Cuba is now a land of peace and plenty, especially in view of the year's big sugar crop, which sold at high prices, the message from President Palma to the Cuban congress Nov. 6 urged a large increase in the strength of the rural guard—namely, from 3,000 to 5,000 men.

To Avenge the Missionaries.

The Chinese government has formally expressed its regret for the murder of five Presbyterian missionaries at Lianchow Oct. 28 and has taken steps to prevent further trouble. Consul General Loy at Canton has been ordered to Lianchow to make a personal investigation. Horrible indignities were heaped on the victims.

Big Austrian Railway Strike.

The movement for higher pay among the employees of the Austrian railroads went into effect on the Italian plan of passive resistance. It consists in the strict observance of all the governmental regulations, which are so complex and absurd that all lines are virtually tied up. A general sympathetic strike in support of the demand for universal suffrage was expected to follow. The railroad men still draw pay and are not liable to removal.

Skeleton at Lord Mayor's Feast.

During the inaugural banquet of London's new lord mayor, Walter Vaughan Morgan, Premier Balfour addressed the throng of gorgeously uniformed men and bejeweled women, making an unusual appeal on behalf of the suffering poor of London. He referred to the new law dealing with the unemployed and urged all persons to give timely help.

EXECUTIVE

Can't Intervene For Jews.

Secretary of State Root in a letter to Simon Wolf of Washington, chairman of the civil rights board of the American Union of Hebrew Congregations, said that any action by this government looking to the relief of American Jews or others in Russia at this time would be inopportune and unavailing. Mr. Root said that this government looked for a response to the solicitations in the hoped for establishment of a more liberal form of government in Russia.

Step Toward New German Treaty.

Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German ambassador, has transmitted to Secretary Root a letter from Chancellor von Bulow suggesting that the time has arrived for a rearrangement of the tariff between the United States and Germany and that Germany is desirous of a new reciprocal commercial treaty. The present arrangement comes to an end March 14, 1906. It is not deemed likely that the administration will negotiate a new treaty until the senate is heard from.

Bank Examiner Dismissed.

Comptroller of Currency Ridgely announced the removal of Bank Examiner R. H. Mattern of the western Pennsylvania district on account of his failure to discover the rotten condition of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, which failed as the result of manipulation of funds by state politicians. It was found that Mattern had been "entirely too credulous" in his acceptance of statements made by officers of the bank.

The Cabinet Not Muzzled.

President Roosevelt has explained to the Washington newspaper correspondents that the recent circular letter sent to cabinet officers was greatly exaggerated. The letter was intended merely to emphasize and to reiterate the understanding that has prevailed for many years that information is not to be furnished the press concerning cabinet meetings. It left the members free to discuss the policies of their own department, with the only restriction that the details of the cabinet meeting should not be disclosed.

LEGAL-CRIMINAL

Martial Law For Strikers.

Governor Cox of Tennessee declared martial law at Whitwell, where a miners' strike has been in progress against the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. A troop of cavalry and a Gatling gun were ordered there to protect life and property, which is said to be in jeopardy since the killing of Clarke Robertson, a nonunion miner, and the wounding of four other nonunion miners.

Susan Geary's Head Found.

The head of Susan Geary, who died from a criminal operation and whose body was dismembered and thrown into Boston harbor, was recovered by dragging the harbor. It was in the leather satchel which had belonged to the unfortunate young woman. The head was joined by the medical examiner to the other parts of the body in order to complete the identification and effect a decent burial. Dr. Percy McLeod was arrested at Boston charged with having dissected the body after an attempt to save the girl's life by a second operation. It only remained to identify positively the physician who performed the original operation.

Clews In Todd Case.

After extensive police investigation, definite clews were obtained leading to the solution of the mysterious death of Margaretta Todd, the wealthy New York widow, who apparently had been run over by a train near Philadelphia. The New York coroner decided to take the case before the district attorney. The evidence indicated that Mrs. Todd had met with foul play at the hands of persons interested in the disposal of her estate.

New Land Fraud Confession.

Attorney Frank Lambert, who was brought from Oregon to Omaha, Neb., on the charge of subornation of perjury in connection with extensive land frauds, made a complete confession concerning his action as a go-between for the cattlemen and old soldiers for the purpose of securing the homestead and entries of the latter. He says he received $50 for each filing procured and that the soldiers took the lands with the understanding that they were to be relinquished to the cattlemen. In this way many thousands of acres have been stolen. The soldiers implicated are scattered over the west.

Garfield Contradicts Packers.

Commissioner of Corporations Garfield has denied that he promised the beef packers immunity, as claimed by them, and this denial was to be the answer of the government attorneys in the case now pending in the federal courts at Chicago against the packers.

Western Insurance Men Up.

The grand jury at St. Paul, Minn., has indicted four men connected with the former management of the Northwestern National Life association, this concern having been reorganized under the supervision of the state. The statute of limitation alone prevents the indictment of former Insurance Commissioner O'Shaughnessy for accepting a bribe of $5,000 to suppress a report on this company.

FOOTBALL

DAILY ELECTED CAPTAIN.

The victorious Phillips Andover academy football team has elected as captain of the team for next year Frederick Daly '07 of Cambridge, who contributed materially toward the 28 points which Andover rolled up against her old rival, Exeter, in Saturday's championship game.

Daly has played football at Andover three years. He was sent in during the second half in the Exeter game last year, and played on the regular team all this season, his work being conspicuous because of his speed and his ground gaining ability, as well as his skill as a field goal kicker.

Daly is a quiet, unassuming student, and a very popular one, his choice as captain being generally approved by the student body.

Daly's home is in Cambridge and he is preparing for Harvard. He weighs 170 pounds, is 20 years old, and is 5 feet 10 inches tall.

Capt.-elect Daly, Left Guard Jackson and Quarterback Merritt are the only members of this year's eleven who will return to the academy next fall. Capt. Hobbs will go to the Lowell Textile school, Andrus at right guard, Pelrice at left end, Avery at right tackle, Lynn at right end, Murphy at left halfback and Austin at center will all enter Yale next fall.

Bartholomew, Andover's star halfback, has one more year at the academy, but he does not expect to return, having decided to go into business. Bartholomew has played a conspicuously good game for Andover for three years, and his work against Exeter Saturday was a fitting close to a brilliant football career, his goal from placement from the 40 yard line being one of the truest kicks ever made, the ball going straight between the goalposts, despite the fact that the kick was a long one, that the ball was at the side of the field, and that the kick had to be made in the teeth of a strong wind. His 28-yard run around Exeter's right end was also one of the most remarkable plays of the game.

Andover played only 11 men against Exeter in Saturday's game, which is commendation enough of the work of Trainer Sydney Peet. Every man came out of the game practically unscathed. Andrus received a blow in the mouth which drew blood, and Bartholomew slightly injured his shoulder.

The students cannot find words to express their appreciation of the skillful work of Coach O'Connor. They agree that he developed the team to a point of effectiveness seldom if ever before, reached by an Andover team. Coach O'Connor will remain at Andover another year at least.

EXETER HAS NO EXCUSES.

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 13.—Exeter has no excuses to offer for her decisive defeat and acknowledges that the better team won. In the finish and precision of her team work along all lines and in individual prowess, Andover surpassed all expectations, and her eleven of this season will rank among the very best she has developed.

Without the slightest disparagement of Andover's victory, it may be said that Exeter fell short of the standard she attained in preliminary games, and her weakness in the second half surprised her supporters. Barring injuries to Weltzel and M. F. Cooney, her men were thought to be in perfect condition for a hard match, and the eve of the game were so pronounced by trainer Connors. The Exeter team of his training have invariably been brought to the crucial game in the finest of fettle and changes in the line-up during the game have not been demanded.

Scars excepted, Capt. MacFadden has recovered from the injuries sustained of which his fellow players show few traces.

MacFadden, C. T. Cooney and Bergrin are the members who graduate this year, and the logical candidates for the captaincy are Vaughn and Harb, each of three years' experience.

Coach Hogan left Sunday morning for New York to enter upon his work in the Columbia law school. It is understood that his first season as a coach will also be his last. A Train-Connors Sunday morning went to New York for a few days' rest. He will return in time to attend next Saturday's Harvard-Dartmouth game.

COMMENT ON EXETER GAME.

The Boston Journal says of the Andover-Exeter game:

Andover's masterly football method, as taught by Coach O'Connor, the old Dartmouth captain, superbly applied to an eleven of almost ideal construction, swept Exeter down the gridiron at Exeter, N. H., Saturday, to the tune of 28 to 0. The Exeter eleven made one brave attempt at carrying the ball, the call of time alone preventing it from scoring in the first half, with the ball one yard from the Andover line. That effort was all. For the remainder of the game "Jim" Hogan's pupils were outclassed.

It was just a crushing, grinding, swinging along in answer to an insistent demand for skill. In the second half the perfect system of Coach O'Connor showed its true value, for the Exeter aggregation only had the ball twice and only gained one first down distance in that period.

It was good to look upon, this Andover team. It was tall and spare, molded in the pattern of such players as Yale is working on. Against this towering and striding team Exeter opposed players heavier in weight and of more compact build. Their muscles bulged out beneath their jerseys and they were sturdy and stolid, but against the lunge and stride of the long-legged, long-armed Andover team there was no choice but to give way.

The narrow escape from a goal from the field by Daly in the first part of the game, followed by a goal from placement on the part of Bartholomew, was the first knowledge displayed by the well-developed eleven. Previous to that it showed ground-gaining capabilities, but it was not until the final half that condition and everything that goes with a first class team manifested itself, and the Exonians were utterly shattered.

All that "Jim" Hogan, the All-America Yale tackle for the past three years knew he taught his players. The team did the best it could, only to be brushed aside. There was some little hope that Exeter would score because of its getting within one yard of the Andover goal line in the last minute of the first half. There was some talk of Exeter's strength returning, and that Andover had outplayed itself in the first period and could not come back. After a few minutes of play in the final half there was no more hope or talk. "Jim" Hogan, by the way, was a sad picture, as with folded arms he stood gazing disconsolately at the wreck and ruin of his eleven under the attack of the dark blue.

The Vindication of the Law

In the history of the world there has been going on a perpetual struggle between the forces of right and wrong, the latter at times seemingly triumphant. Yet, notwithstanding, there has been ever living a spark of righteousness and justice, and just when it seemed as if the forces of corruption must reign supreme, that spark has been kindled into a flame and a great conflagration has utterly destroyed the evil doers and their work. It was a vindication of the law, the eternal law of God which cannot be broken with impunity.

It is brought out perhaps more clearly in the history of the great nations where great crises have threatened the life and well being of the people. We go back to the time of Moses and find there a vindication of the law in the destruction of Pharaoh's hosts. Coming down through the ages we again see the vindication of that same law in the signing of the great Magna Charta, that first document of political freedom. The eternal law was broken when the tyrannical government of George the third imposed on the colonists grievous burdens and the law was vindicated in the Declaration of Independence. The aristocrats of France broke the law and paid the penalty in the vindication of it in the bloody revolution which followed. When a great cancer was eating out the vitals of our country men freely offered their lives as a sacrifice with Abraham Lincoln as the guiding hand. Centuries of oppression and brutality to the Russian peasants and educated classes will end in the vindication of the law by a free people.

Today we are passing through a crisis in our National life which is probably the greatest we have ever been called upon to face. Corruption and vice of every sort, deceit, theft and roguery of the most flagrant kind are rampant in our political, municipal and business affairs. Graft of every form has entered into the affairs of our seemingly upright men, and the eternal law is being trampled upon.

But not for long. Slowly but surely the law will be vindicated and out on the horizon is rising a cloud of justice and righteousness which will overwhelm these forces of wickedness as completely as did the waters of the Red Sea the Egyptians. Witness the great triumph of Mr. Jerome in New York city who alone and unaided, save by the moral awakening of the people, fought the great parties of that city for a pure administration of the law. So, too, with Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia and Governor Folk of Missouri.

It is only the dawn of an era which means not only a return to a life of higher ideals in government and in business but also in social and family affairs. This great American people will pass safely through this time of trial and will rise purer and stronger before the world.

Editorial Cinders.

The Fair is on and the Grangers are ready to give a cordial welcome and an evening of entertainment to all who care to come. A free large ride from the square, twenty-five cents to admit, your own generosity consulted to get out, ought to fill the Grange Hall to overflowing to-night.

Some of our good friends who appreciate the usefulness of the Tell-tale, have informed us that the hours given for the closing of the mails are in some instances incorrect and for this we are sorry. We heartily agree with one who says that if "correct the Tell-tale is invaluable, but useless if otherwise. We shall be glad to make the correction in the rest of the edition.

Greater perhaps than the satisfaction of the overwhelming victory of the blue over the red on the New Hampshire field last Saturday afternoon was the demonstration that the game of football can be played without any resort to brutality. Never before in the history of the Andover-Exeter games have eleven young men been able to play an entire game through. Yet such was the case Saturday, which only goes to prove that with a team properly coached and physically fit, and with the best of friendly rivalry prevailing, there is much to commend the game.

Notable promotions have come to two Andover young men this week. Walter M. Lamont taking a prominent place in the new Wood Worsted Mill and Jules Duval going to a superintendency in Rhode Island. Coming at the same time as they do, they emphasize that chances for young men are still numerous where the men themselves are worthy. These high positions do not come from "pull" or luck, but from long years of earnest and loyal work from the ground up. The young men are to be congratulated not only upon their advancement but upon the qualities they have shown which make the advancement deserved.

THE ANNUAL GRANGE FAIR.

Grange Hall the Scene of an Attractive and Profitable Fair.

The annual Grange fair opened in the Grange hall last evening with an attendance and patronage wholly pleasing to the members of the popular organization. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion with red, white and blue streamers, hung from the walls to the center of the ceiling, and on the walls the decorations were varied and beautiful.

On entering the hall the first table to be seen is the grab bag where various prizes can be secured for the small sum of five cents. Next is the mystery table which is prettily trimmed in orange and white and where all sorts of articles are sold. The pretty paper table is next in line and is laden with countless fancy articles in paper, besides a good supply of writing paper, napkins, etc.

At the china table pretty cups and saucers, pitchers, plates and dishes for various uses are disposed of at reasonable prices. This table is trimmed with blue and white. The cake table is in the front of the hall and the decorations are yellow and white. Orange and blue are the decorations for the candy table where delicious sweets are dispensed at reasonable prices.

On the left of the hall next in line is the flower table which needs no comment regarding decorations as the plants and flowers form handsome decorations. Green and white paper, however, is used with good effect. The national colors are used in decorating the handkerchief table, where all kinds of handkerchiefs are sold. In the corner of the hall is the fancy table where the ladies will find all sorts of fancy and many useful articles, including iron holders, fancy work bags, dollies, etc. The apron table is at the left of the door and is trimmed in orange and blue. All kinds of aprons are to be found here.

Down stairs are the vegetable and supper tables. The vegetable table is laden with all kinds of fruit and products of the farm and the display is well worth seeing even if one does not care to purchase. Nothing need be said regarding the supper as anyone who has ever had the opportunity to dine there will want to try the turkey supper to-night.

There are a number of guesses for which valuable prizes are offered. The prizes and those who have charge of the contests are as follows: chair, George L. Averill; clock, Mrs. Chandler; pearl paper knife, Mrs. George L. Averill; cake and umbrella, Mrs. Hersom; Mrs. Fred Howarth; Miss Lottie Hill; art square, Mrs. Edward Boutwell; musical stein, carving set, Mrs. Daniel Fitzpatrick; sofa pillow, Mrs. George Burnham.

Last evening the short play, entitled "The Milkmaid's Drill" was given by the members of the "Grange" and was a very pretty and enjoyable feature. Those who took part were:

Farmer, Edward Abbott; Wife, Mrs. Fred Hersom; Milkmaid, Miss C. J. Burt; Milkman, Robert Watson; Chalk, Graydon Abbott; Pump, Robert Watson; Milk Cans, Mr. Howarth; Charles Bailey; Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald; Miss Elma Bailey.

Chorus of milkmen and milkmaids: Miss Lucia Burt, Luella Phelps, Lucy Carter, Elizabeth Fitzgerald, Alma Bailey, Caroline J. Burt, Cynthia Flint, Julia Brine, Joseph Blunt, Fred Howarth, Phillip Moorar, William Flint, George Phelps, Gayton Abbott.

Committees.

Paper table—Mrs. George Averill, Miss Lizzie Fitzgerald, Miss Lucia Burt.

Mystery table—Mrs. Charles H. Brownell, Mrs. Carrie E. Reed.

Grab bag—Miss Lucy Carter.

Dolls—Mrs. Fred Howarth.

Supper committee—S. H. Bailey, John Maddox, Joseph Blunt, F. M. Foster, Fred Howarth, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clark.

Dining room under the charge of Milo Gould with a fine corps of waiters.

The fair will continue this evening and it is expected that the attendance will be larger than last night. The winners of the various contests will be announced and an auction of unsold articles will be held. The bargains leave the square at six and half past seven.

Recount Held.

By the order of the Republican and Democratic State committees a recount of the ballots for Lieutenant Governor was held in the Town clerk's office on Monday evening when the votes were carefully gone over to ascertain if any errors had been made by the election officials in their count of November seven.

The work was done by the Registrars of voters and representatives of the Republican and Democratic parties were present. It was found that no errors were made by the officials, the work having been systematically done by Warden F. H. Hardy and his assistants.

The Association football team is endeavoring to have an exhibition match played on Thanksgiving day with an out-of-town team.

Thrown From Electric Car.

Conductor Frank Butterfield of the Boston & Northern street railway, a resident of Haverhill, was badly injured at Turnpike hill, North Andover, early Tuesday morning, and he is now at his home under the care of Dr. Anthony, who attended him at the scene of the accident.

Conductor Butterfield and Motorman Williams were in charge of a car and a gang of Italian laborers, which started from Salem, where the railroad ties for the new road at West Newbury are docked. The division men have been hauling the ties to Haverhill on flat cars from Salem, making one trip a day. Tuesday morning it was planned to make two trips and an early start was made, the car leaving the River street barn Haverhill, at 5 o'clock. It proceeded to North Andover with Conductor Butterfield and the Italians standing on the flat car, facing backward. The line was clear and the car was making fast time, but when the curve at Turnpike hill was reached the conductor and Italians received a jolt as the car sped around the curve, and Butterfield and one Italian were thrown off, the conductor striking on his head and being rendered unconscious. The Italian, whose name is not on the company roll, other than as a number, was also badly bruised and shaken up. After being treated by a physician, he was able to resume his work.

Butterfield was carried to Dr. Torrey's house where his injuries were treated and word was immediately sent back to Haverhill and Dr. Anthony went to the scene, and after making him as comfortable as possible, a special car was put in commission and the injured man was carried back to Haverhill and taken to his home, where he is now resting comfortably.

It is not thought that his injuries are serious, being about the head and no internal injuries are anticipated.

Thrown From Their Automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell F. Wilson of Ballardvale and their chauffeur, Paul Haebler, were thrown from Mr. Wilson's automobile on Sunday afternoon and were severely shaken up. The accident occurred at the sharp turn at the corner of Harvard and Prospect streets, Cambridge, when a large touring car, collided with Mr. Wilson's machine.

Both autos were proceeding slowly, the Wilson auto having barely turned the sharp curve when a big machine, party and owners unknown, crashed into it.

Mrs. Wilson was badly shaken, Paul Haebler received a scalp wound, and Mr. Wilson miraculously escaped uninjured. Amid the attendant excitement the unknown auto backed off and whirled away from the scene without explanations.

Both injured persons, Mrs. Wilson and Paul Haebler, were removed to the Relief Hospital near by. Two stitches were placed in Haebler's scalp. Later the Wilson party proceeded home ward. Their machine was wrecked and scarred, but not wholly wrecked.

Honor for Local Young Men.

Two of Andover's prominent young men have been appointed to responsible positions in their lines of work this week. Jules A. Duval has been chosen as an official in the National Rubber Works at Bristol, R. I., and will take up his new duties about the first of December. The factory is one of the largest of the United States Rubber company and the position is one of great responsibility. Mr. Duval has been in the employ of Tyer Rubber company for the past 17 years and has worked his way up until he is now assistant superintendent.

The other young man to receive an appointment is Walter M. Lamont, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Lamont of Maple avenue, and he has been chosen superintendent of the yarn department of the Wood Worsted mill which is now being built at Lawrence. It will be several months before Mr. Lamont will take up his new duties as the mill will not be ready, although the work is being rushed at present.

Mr. Lamont has been at work in the Washington mill, Lawrence, the largest of the American Woolen company's plants for eight years and his advancement has been rapid as he is now superintendent of a department in that mill. He is a graduate of the Lowell Textile school.

The Abbot Academy Concert.

The first concert in this year's series of recitals was given yesterday afternoon, Nov. 16, in the November Club house, which was well filled with an appreciative audience.

Everybody was eager to see and hear Mr. Perabo again, and his welcome was genuinely hearty.

The first number upon the programme, a sonata by Beethoven, opus 27, No. 1 in E flat, was beautiful in itself and most interesting from the fact that Moscheles, Mr. Perabo's teacher, had heard Beethoven himself play it. The impromptu, op. 90, No. 1, C minor, by Schubert, was most reverently and sympathetically played, and it seemed when Mr. Perabo was playing it, that no other could so reveal its melodious beauty.

Mr. Perabo played an interesting group of solos by a Dutch composer, new to most of his audience, Theodor H. H. Verhey, of which the gavotte was most charming.

Mr. Jacques Hoffmann, violinist, and Mr. Carl Barth, cellist, both members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and of the Hoffmann String Quartet, each had beautiful solos with piano accompaniment, but in the last number of the programme, the great trio in B flat, op. 97, by Beethoven, the ensemble playing was most beautiful, and this trio made a wonderful climax to an exceptionally fine concert.

The next two recitals will probably be given in Davis Hall, McKean Memorial Building, Abbot Academy.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Townsman:

Will you allow space in your columns for the following reflections in regard to the driving of automobiles over our roads, which subject has been forcibly brought before us by the recent accident.

We have carefully read the conflicting accounts as they have appeared in the Townsman.

On the one side it has been charged that the machine in question had not on the usual number of bright lights needed to give suitable and timely warning of the approach of an automobile, and this very serious and important charge has not been refuted in either account, from the other side, while, with truth, great stress has been laid upon the blinding effect of the search lights on the electric cars.

These lights whether met in one place or another on the road, make the full lighting of automobiles of vastly more importance than ever before and would greatly relieve the otherwise utter darkness which follows their passing.

We are told by a reliable person living in the outskirts of the town that it is not infrequent to see automobiles passing in the evening without any lights!

There are necessary laws that govern the rate of speed, there are also even more necessary laws that require a certain number of lights on all automobiles. If to drive one beyond the allowed rate of speed is an offense punishable by law, so also is the driving of one on a dark night without the required number of lights an offense punishable by law.

Hence it follows that until the charge of insufficient light on this particular automobile at the time of the accident is disproved the owner thereof is liable to prosecution by the town for this violation of law which was followed by such serious results.

Modes of travel have changed since it used to be safe for the farmer to drive to and from town by day or by night, and these changes have come to stay.

We would recommend as a precautionary measure, that a new law be made requiring that every team driven over the road after dark shall be provided with at least one light, which would lessen to some extent the danger of being dashed to pieces by these modern juggernauts, and would in turn help to give them warning of the approach of any dangerous wagons.

Will not the town officers take this matter, which concerns us all, into serious consideration, and do all in their power to see that the laws are so enforced as to prevent in the future an other and more fatal collision?

THE BLUE TRIUMPHED.

Andover Defeated Her Old Rival, Exeter, in a Hard Fought Battle on the Gridiron.

Phillips Exeter was vanquished by Phillips Andover at Exeter Saturday 28 to 0, in the annual championship football contest. Save in the very first of the game Andover easily had the upper hand, the line proving superior, man for man, despite the advantage Exeter had in weight.

Andover gave a splendid exhibition of the way to play football. Every man was in every play, the line charged low and plainly got the jump on Exeter, the interference was strong, the tackling hard and low, the attack directed with excellent judgment, and the defense always strong. Andover never had a better coached team or one that was in better physical condition and no Andover team ever played a better game. It was the first time Andover has ever defeated Exeter with eleven men and there probably never was a game so entirely free from mistakes or disappointing plays. Exeter punted out of bounds twice, the kicks being short in consequence, and these two punts were the only poor plays, which were made by Andover. Although this lack of distance gave Exeter the ball in Andover's territory, Andover had strong enough defense to prevent a score by her rival so that the short kicks did not prove costly. Exeter more than made up for these kicks, by the two long high punts he made during the game.

Andover fumbled only once and then Peirce fell on the ball.

The game opened with conditions against Andover. The field was slippery and Exeter won the toss and chose the north goal, with the wind and slope of the field in her favor. But Exeter soon found the Andover defense too much for her and punted. Then Andover began to attack in a way that surprised the Exeter supporters as much as Andover's defensive work.

Exeter fought hard and Andover, after having lost ground by penalties, was forced to kick. Daly tried for a goal from the 45-yard line, but failed although the ball went straight for the goal posts and back only a little lower, to have sent it over the cross bar.

Exeter punted from the 25-yard line and Andover again began to force her rival back slowly but steadily, but Exeter held well on her 35-yard line and Daly made another try for a goal from the field, which failed.

Exeter made a few gains and then lost 15 yards for holding. Unable to regain the ground she punted and a quarterback of Exeter began a fair catch on Exeter's 40-yard line, showing excellent judgment. Bartholomew kicked a pretty goal from placement at a hard angle, thus the first four points that turned the tide of battle in Andover's favor.

Exeter then had to relinquish her favorite end of the field and Andover soon began to force her rival back, team back for a touchdown, and Bartholomew added a goal.

Having scored 10 points it remained only for Andover to test her defense a little more to satisfy all that Exeter could not win.

That test came near the end of the first half. Andover stood it and the game was really won then. Getting the ball on Andover's 25-yard line from a kick of Exeter, Exeter began a desperate attack. By hurdles and revolving mass plays Exeter gradually gained, but she had to fight for every five yards and the nearer she got to Andover's goal line the harder she had to fight. Little time remained and Exeter failed remarkably slow under the circumstances.

Exeter finally secured first down within a yard and a half of the goal line. With time enough for one plunge, Exeter failed to make the distance necessary for a touchdown, time being called after Andover had downed the ball on her one-yard line.

Exeter was not in the game in the second half. Andover gaining steadily and growing stronger on the defensive. Three more touchdowns were scored and Exeter went down and out—with 28 points to 0 against her.

Capt. Hobbs of Andover played an aggressive, inspiring game, and showed himself an ideal leader. He and Austin did the most effective work for Andover. Being linemen their strong playing was not so conspicuous to the average spectator, but persons with a knowledge of football could see that it was largely due to the work of Austin and Jackson that Andover was able to make the showing she did. He ripped up the Exeter line making holes for the Andover backs when Andover had the ball, and enabling Andover men to break through and tackle when Exeter had the ball.

Jackson was also a tower of strength at left guard, contributing materially to the effectiveness of the line. Austin played his best game at center since he had been on the team. He and Austin and Jackson were plainly more than a match for Exeter's giant center, Capt. MacFadden, Cooney and Seldon, despite the fact that the Exeter men had an advantage of 20 pounds to a man in weight. Capt. MacFadden was powerless against Austin and when he retired from the game was completely done up. Andover made many gains through Cooney and Seldon.

Avery, Andover's right tackle, played a hard steady game and Peirce and Lynn did all that was required of them as ends. Exeter finding to her sorrow that she could not get around either side. Lynn made several brilliant tackles and both he and Peirce were always down on the field on punts. Merritt's work at quarterback was exceptionally good. He was fast and sure and displayed excellent judgment.

Murphy, Daly and Bartholomew did splendid service for Andover in the back field. Daly hit the line hard and Seldon failed to gain. Murphy was again and again dragged for yards and if Bartholomew had contributed nothing but his goal from the field and his 28-yard run he would have earned his share in victory, but he also did a good portion of the line plunging.

The skillful coaching of Dr. O'Connor, who had charge of the Andover team, was manifest in every play. All could see that Andover had science, every movement being made to count and the entire powers of the team being concentrated at the point of attack.

The perfect physical condition of the Andover team speaks volumes for the work of Trainer Sydney Peet. The men were trained to the hour and if anything were gaining strength rather than losing it as the game progressed.

A synopsis of the game follows: Ground gained from scrimmage—first half, Andover, 94 yards; Exeter, 64 yards; second half, Andover, 270 yards; Exeter, 14 yards; total, Andover 364 yards; Exeter 80 yards. First down, distance gained—first half, Andover, 15; Exeter, 3; second half, Andover, 28; Exeter, 1; total, Andover, 43; Exeter, 9. Forced to punt—

Western Hospitality.

An extract from Mrs. Carter's description of a tour across the continent, read at the first meeting of the November Club:

"Next morning we were clothed and in our right minds—packed—tagged—ready for a six-thirty breakfast and a goodbye to San Francisco.

A unique surprise was in store for us. When well under way, our Conductor, Mr. Bowler, announced that he had wired to an acquaintance at Lodi that he proposed to stop over there with his party until the evening train, which would give us five hours at Lodi, in the heart of the fruit growing region. We cheered him, as usual, for we were always glad to go ashore. The morning hours passed quickly, there was so much that was novel and interesting to be seen from our car windows.

As we drew near the station at Lodi, the whole town seemed to be astir. We saw carryalls, buggies, wagons, barges and automobiles drawn up in line around the square—a crowd of people hurrying towards the station—and heard the music of a band. Was it market day? A gala day? or what? No! it was only the people of Lodi, California, coming to greet the people of New England. They captured us as we left our cars. Nimble fingers pinned dainty badges to our shoulders. Smiling faces and cheery voices made us feel at home among friends, as we were escorted to seats under the trees on the little common, in front of the band stand.

There we listened to the music of the band—to cordial words of welcome from the fathers of the town—and to songs of welcome by a double quartette with piano accompaniment. The music was excellent. The speakers reflected the boundless hospitality of the people. They were New Englanders themselves—or their fathers and mothers were. They looked upon New England's sons and daughters as old friends, and were always glad of an opportunity to meet them. The master of ceremonies, every whit equal to the occasion, kept things going in the liveliest way. His interludes, brimming with wit and humor, constantly provoked mirth and applause. Members of our party responded in their happiest vein, until the very air seemed charged with neighborly good will and wishes. A social hour followed, while delicious fruit punch was served from a barrel which never ran dry.

Then we knew what the carriages were there for. A drive came next on the program, and there was room for every one. We passed orchards of prunes, olives, oranges, lemons, almonds, walnuts, figs, peaches, plums, and acres of grapes. We stopped now and then to sample the fruit of a tree or vine near the road—for all Lodi was ours until six o'clock.

We got back to the square in season to pay a short visit to the packing houses. A girl who was deftly packing grapes, said to me "help yourself"—then gave me a bunch of tokays that I am sure weighed three pounds. We saw a most attractive display of preserved fruits. I remember a five pound bunch of grapes suspended in a huge glass jar in such a way as to show every ounce of their lusciousness. A branch from an almond tree in another jar was very beautiful.

Our five hours were gone too soon. Goodbyes were said mid wavings and cheerings—but this was not the end. On reaching our cars, we found that some of our hosts, coniving with our conductor, had entered the vestibules and packed them high with great crates of peaches, pears and grapes—and piles of watermelons. I counted water melons until I knew there were nearly fifty. I wonder if our new friends were conscious of telephatic communications from our cars that evening.

The members of the Bowler party will never forget California's mighty mountains—her broad ocean—her big trees, nor the great hearts of the "Citizens of Lodi."

Marriage.

In Salem, Wednesday, Nov. 15, Daniel Sullivan of this town and Miss Nellie Collins of Salem.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

Andover 2; Lynn 1.

Andover journeyed to Lynn Saturday and played the strong Lynn team on the latter's ground at Ocean Park. The game was regarded as a sort of test contest as the winning of it would go far towards deciding second place in the league race.

The Andover team was but one point ahead of Lynn and the latter was determined to reduce that and place itself in second position.

The first game between the clubs at Andover resulted in a tie game of two goals each and Lynn was decidedly in luck in escaping so easily as Andover completely outplayed them.

Lynn had out a much stronger team Saturday and the game was a hard fought one from start to finish.

The home forwards were soon dangerous after the kick-off and the visitors' defense was tested time and again. Capt. Anderson, Stirling and Black played vigorously, however, and beat off the attack. Play for a time was even but eventually Gillespie scored for his side with a dandy shot which completely beat O'Connell. Andover tried hard for the equalized but the half-time whistle sounded with Lynn one up.

Andover was not a bit discouraged and started the second half determined to win. Haddon, who had played rather poorly in the first half, woke up and played great football. In fact, the whole team braced up and it was soon apparent that the visitors would score, from a brilliant run down the field. Ross beat Birtwhistle with a stinging shot and the score stood level. It was not for long, however, for Stirling put his team in the lead, and despite all efforts of the Lynn forwards Andover finished one up. Gillespie tried hard several times to break away, but he was too well watched to do any damage.

The result of the game was a disappointment to the Lynn supporters who confidently expected their team to win.

There was a large attendance of spectators, a special car conveying a delegation of Andover supporters.

The teams were: Andover—Goal, O'Connell; backs Black, Kenne, halves, R. Anderson, Haddon, Stirling; forwards, Ross, E. Anderson, Dakers, Welch, Poland.

Lynn—Goal, Bertwhistle; backs, Russell, Turnbull; halves, Kerr, Crabbe, Sheridan; forwards, Robinson, Murphy, Gillespie, Horne, McTavish. Referee, Morse of Lawrence. Linesmen, Williams, Lynn; McKenzie, Andover.

COMMERCIAL

Missouri Bars New York Life.
State Insurance Superintendent Van-dover of Missouri issued on Nov. 8 his long threatened order expelling the New York Life Insurance company from that state, the thirty-days of grace having expired
since the first demand upon President McCall and Vice President Perkins for the restoration of trust funds said to have been improperly diverted by those officials for political and other purposes.
Later a court injunction was secured restraining Vandiver from carrying out his expulsion plan.

Insurance For Poor Men High.
The New York insurance committee resumed its sessions Nov. 8 with an examination of President Hegeman of the Metropolitan and Actuary McClintock of the Mutual. It was shown that industrial policies for men of small means was charged at a much higher rate than those with regular annual premiums. The profits from this business has built up an enormous surplus,
as half of these industrial policies expire within a year, the insured getting nothing. Mr. Hegeman defends this on the theory that the poor man has to pay more for everything because he buys it in small quantities. A good deal of the business consists in risks on the lives of children and babies.

Spanish Rails For America.
Cable advices from Bilbao, Spain,
said that 21,000 tons of rails had been ordered from the mills at that place
for use in construction of a California railroad. The price for the rails, including $4 a ton duty, is said to be $27 a ton, or $1 less than the existing price for American rails. This is the first rail contract that has ever been placed in Spain for American use.

The Antipass Farce Again.
The officials of the western railroads
centering at Chicago again adopted their agreement to prevent reduced rates or passes being used for the purpose of influencing freight or passenger traffic. One of the officers broke over the traces by opposing the agreement on the ground that it was a dead letter. He said they all knew that the law forbids issuing passes, and yet that most of them are regularly violating the law and their own agreement.

INDUSTRIAL

America's Coal Production.
Returns of the geological survey for 1904 as collected by Statistician Parker,
according to the Coal Trade Journal,
show that the production of coal last year amounted to 351,196,353 short tons of a total value of $445,643,528. This was a falling off of 6,150,463 tons as compared with the preceding year.

Enormous Hydraulic Power Plant.
The Great Northern Power company
of Duluth has now under construction
an electric generating plant fourteen miles north of the city on the St. Louis river which is expected to develop a normal capacity of 80,000 horsepower.
For use in this plant four hydraulic gates twenty-five feet in length and twelve feet high are being built at Marquette, Mich. It is expected to transmit energy to the Mesaba and Gogeble ranges for use in the mines and other points within a radius of 150 miles. The plant is to be in operation next spring.

Up Mont Blanc by Rail.
Work has just been begun on the new electric line which is to take tourists nearly to the top of Mont Blanc, in the Alps of Switzerland. The railroad will be about twelve miles long,
starting from the little village of La Fayet, in the Chaumoux valley. It will ascend gradually the northwest side of the mountain to a point 11,619 feet high, from which the ascent can be made by foot in four hours. Trains will consist of the motor and two passenger cars, carrying about eighty passengers each trip. Cost of construction is $2,000,000.

Boll Weevil Spreads Forty Miles.
The Louisiana state crop pest commission reports that the Mexican boll weevil has been found as far east as Bayou Chicot, nearly the center of the state, which indicates a progress of forty miles during the past season despite the strenuous warfare which has been waged against the pest. The commission reports against the Marston
process for getting rid of the weevils
by using paris green, saying that the remedy actually tended to increase the number of weevils.

Electrifying the Lake Shore.
The work of electrifying the Lake Shore railroad between Rochester and Syracuse was begun by the Buffalo
Pole, Line and Construction company.
Derricks to carry three aluminum cables are to be placed alongside the tracks.

A Record Railroad Run.
The Pennsylvania special finished a run of 717 miles from Harrisburg to Chicago in 741 minutes, including the climb over the mountains from Altoona to Pittsburgh. This is regarded as the best regular run for a like distance
ever made on eastern railroads.

Canal Commission Purchases.
The Isthmian canal commission has completed its extensive purchases for work on the Panama waterway, including 6,046 tons of powder, 5,175 tons
of dynamite, 30,000,000 feet of lumber, 7,000,000 paving brick for the streets of Panama, 3,000,000 brick for construction of buildings, 120 excavation locomotives, 1,300 flat cars, 700 dump cars, 5,000 tons of steel rails, 125,000

cross ties and numerous minor groups
of articles of equipment.

SOCIOLOGICAL

Fine Dresses by Co-operation.
A co-operative sewing club is the latest scheme by which two New York
women are making their livelihood and are enabling women of moderate resources and social ambitions to dress in the height of style. The managers provide pattern, machines, fashion plates and the services of a cutter and fitter. Any member of the club may bring materials for any garment, have it cut and fitted in tailor fashion and then may take it home and finish it.
Not more than ten women are allowed to attend any one session of the club, which lasts four hours either in the morning or in the afternoon. A membership card entitles one to attend ten sessions, which may be one a week or one a month, as thought best.

To Study Women Wagesworkers.
The industrial committee of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs has received President Roosevelt's endorsement of its plan to secure an investigation of the conditions under which women are working in industrial and commercial establishments. It is intended to cover the effects upon marriage, divorce, birth and death rates,
wages, hours, health regulations, etc.

A Public Antisauicide Bureau.
The fact was made known at Cleveland that Mayor Johnson had recently appointed a commission composed of three experienced charity workers whose purpose is to aid persons afflicted with suicidal impulse. Cases of dependency and extreme misfortune are investigated and efforts made to cheer and alleviate.

A National Charity Organ.
A national publication committee has just been organized for the purpose of merging the leading papers of the east and the west devoted to practical philanthropy. They are the New York Charities and the Chicago Commons, which hereafter will be published as a combined weekly, with their present editors, Edward T. Devine and Graham Taylor, in charge. In explanation of this latest move in the centralization of American charities the committee declares that there is need for spokesmen who will challenge existing methods and theories with accumulated facts and who will stand out "for new opportunities for the wage earner,
for new struggles against new forms of ignorance and selfishness, for new plans for lightening the burdens of poverty, for new possibilities for the rescue of those who are drawn down
by their unfavorable environment and the evil legacies of heredity, for new enthusiasms for American democracy."

RELIGIOUS

Pope Accepts French Separation.
After nearly two years of silence
since the first breach occurred between the French government and the church of Rome, Pius X. has issued a letter to Archbishop Richard of Paris embodying his personal views regarding the legislation under discussion in the French senate. Instead of a bitter protest the pope's letter contained not a word of animosity and counsels only prayers by the faithful. He announced that at the proper time changes of church discipline in conformity to the new conditions would be suggested.

Irvine Joins Greek Church.
The Rev. Dr. N. W. Irvine, who was dismissed from the Central Pennsylvania diocese of the Episcopal church by Bishop Talbot, has been formally admitted into the priesthood of the Roman Orthodox Catholic church at the St. Nicholas cathedral at New York.
Dr. Irvine says that he has come to the conclusion that the Holy Eastern church affords a better basis for reputation of Christendom than any other part of the Catholic church.

A Church House For the Poor.
The latest feature of religious work
at New York is the opening of a neighborhood house by the Spring Street church, under the leadership of the Rev. Roswell Bates. This church is in the congested center of the city, and the neighborhood house is a remodeled
tenement house with an auditorium
on the first floor, clubrooms, reading rooms and libraries on the other floors.
Mr. Bates said the house was for the use of every one in the neighborhood,
regardless of creed or race, a place where every one could meet on an equal social basis and all be helpful to each other.

EDUCATIONAL

Farming Lessons For Children.
In the state of Nebraska teachers in the primary and secondary grades under the new law are now required to impart the rudiments of agriculture to pupils, explaining the constituents and culture of soil and harvesting of crops.
The aim is to instill into the minds of the children a love and respect for agriculture in the hope that more of them will become farmers when they grow up. In forty-two counties this year competitive contests have been held to induce boys and girls to study the conditions and principles of plant growth.

Western Colleges Booming.
The registration returns of the leading universities and colleges of the west for the current year show that the young men and women of the western cities are patronizing more largely

than heretofore the great institutions of their own section instead of the big and more venerable colleges of the east. Both Harvard and Columbia have had a falling off in attendance, Harvard being reduced to 3,865 and Columbia to 3,725. The University of Pennsylvania has made some gain and now has an attendance of 3,250. Minnesota has increased to 3,760, Michigan to 4,050, the Northwestern to about 4,000, Chicago to 4,500, California to 3,500, etc.

School For the Physically Weak.
In Prussia the school authorities are planning to build a school in the woods near Berlin where children known to be liable to tuberculosis will remain
throughout the day, having their meals furnished free. They will receive two or three hours of instruction and will spend the rest of the time in exercise
in the forest.

ART & LETTERS

An Educational Theater.
A number of wealthy New Yorkers have subscribed to a large fund for the erection of a theater on Central Park West which will be known as the National theater, under the management of Heinrich Conried, who is now head of the Metropolitan Opera House.
There will be thirty boxes in the form of a horseshoe, the owners of which are to pay $100,000 each for perpetual holdings. The prices of the seats will range from $2.50 to $20. The object stated by the projectors is to present plays that are the standard of all nations and the current American plays that are clean and sane. Opera comique will be presented twice a week.

SCIENTIFIC

The Beneficence of Disease.
Sir Frederick Treves, the famous British physician, added the weight of his authority to the theory that disease is benevolent instead of malignant in a recent
address at Edinburgh before the Philosophical society. He went
so far as to say
that if it were not for disease
the human race
would soon be extinct. For instance, the inflammation that occurs in connection with a
wound is a process to be imitated.

Sir Frederick Treves addressed rather than hindered. Without peritonitis to aid the surgeon, he said, every instance of appendicitis would be fatal. A cough or a cold was but the manifestation of a cure. Catarrh and persistent sneezing were means of dislodging bacteria.
As to the disease of cancer the great physician admitted he was at sea.

Says Behring Was Premature.
Dr. Joseph Walsh, president of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, who recently returned from Paris, where he attended the tuberculosis congress, asserts that the announcement made by Dr. Behring at that time was premature and without basis in fact. He said Behring was only one of twenty scientists working along the same line, with an immunizing serum as their goal. Of that number he thought Dr. Leonard Pieroni of Philadelphia had accomplished the most and that his experiments had developed further. He said the discovery might be given to the world within a year by any of these men or it might be delayed for several years.

MISCELLANEOUS

Prince Louis at New York.
After being feted and dined by President Roosevelt and the official circle at Washington, the visiting British admiral, connected by marriage with the royal family, Prince Louis of Battenberg, arrived at New York Nov. 9, the king's birthday, with his squadron, accompanied by a great fleet of American warships under Admiral Evans. Official calls were made and returned amid the boom of saluting guns, and a week of festivities was begun with a great banquet at the Waldorf the same evening. Prince Louis is a naturalized Englishman, whose wife is a sister to the empress of Russia. He chose to enter the British navy in 1869 as a mid-shipman and has won his way to the top. He brings a message of good will from King Edward.

Midshipman Branch's Death.
The naval cadets connected with the first fight which resulted in the death of James R. Branch are to be severely disciplined.

Accidents.
Seven persons were killed and many injured by a tornado which struck the town of Mountain View, Okla., and much property was damaged. This is only a few miles from Snyder, the place that was wrecked by a tornado
last spring with a loss of 120 lives.

The cruiser Marblehead had two of her guns broken and some of her plates
cracked by a collision with the refrigerator ship Celtic at Vallejo, Cal.

At Ishpeming, Mich., the Miners' National bank was completely wrecked
by an explosion of gas from a leak in the basement.
The treasury department received word that twelve whaling vessels of the Atlantic fishing fleet had been frozen into the ice at some place east of Point Barrow in the Arctic ocean.
The collision of passenger and freight trains on the Lackawanna, near Wilkesbarre, resulted in the death of six of the train crew.

THE DISCOVERER

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhea than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development.
Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, quickly yield to it. Womb troubles, causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that bearing-down feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the Uterus, which this medicine always cures. Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound always cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

TELEGRAM'S HIGH ROLLERS.

Enthusiasm ran high at the Bay State bowling alleys yesterday afternoon when the editorial and mechanical department bowling teams of the Telegram met.

The scribes defeated the machine
manipulators, scoring an total 909 pins to 836, three strings being rolled.
Ladd of the editorial team was high man with 85 pins to his credit for a single string with Barnfield of the mechanical team a close second with 84 pins.

Advertising Manager Stillings acted
as referee.
The "mechanics" found their pace
too late while the "editors" rolled steadily throughout.

With a little infusion of new blood
the mechanics hope to win at the next meeting of the two teams in the near future.

An all Telegram team is ready to meet other amateur teams of the city.
The summary of yesterday's match
follows:

EDITORIAL DEPT. TEAM.

Bowler	1	2	3	Tot.
Richardson	73	79	73	225
Ladd	77	85	83	245
White	79	79	82	240
Davidson	65	59	75	199
Totals	294	302	313	909

MECHANICAL DEPT. TEAM.

Bowler	1	2	3	Tot.
Barnfield	73	74	84	231
Pedlow	74	81	73	228
Moriarty	44	57	65	166
Brown	76	64	71	211
Total	267	276	293	836

Averages for the three strings made by the members of the two teams were: Ladd, 81.2-3; White, 80; Barn-
field, 77; Pedlow, 76; Richardson, 75; Brown, 70.1-3; Davidson, 66.1-3; and
Moriarty 55.1-3.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Kershaw, wife of the late Abraham Kershaw, died at her home, Stevens street, Friday morning. The deceased was 84 years old and had lived in this town for 50 years. Her husband, who died in 1895, was very well known and respected by a large number of friends. She was a regular attendant at St. Paul's Episcopal church and always took a great interest in church work. She is survived by one son, Dr. C. A. Kershaw, the dentist of 271 Essex street, Lawrence; Mrs. Henry H. Bishop of 45 Cedar street, whose husband is connected with the John Slater company; Mrs. Norman S. Cole, wife of Contractor Cole of Haverhill. The funeral will take place Sunday.

N. A. V. F. BAZAR OPENS.

The great interest which is taken in the North Andover Veteran Firemen's association was shown last night when the I. O. O. F. hall was crowded with patrons. Those in charge of the different tables received very liberal patronage. The hall was decorated with a variety of red, white, blue, green and pink. "N. A. Veteran F. A." is printed in large red letters across the front of the stage.

The fancy and domestic table presents a very beautiful appearance. Mrs. S. Perkins is in charge of this table. She is assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, Mrs. Herbert G. L. Miss Nellie Costello, Miss Mary Stewart and Miss Jennie Thompson. The candy table in charge of Miss Alice Butterworth is decorated with white and white. Miss Butterworth's assistants are Misses Mary Woodhouse and Corretta Crowther.

William Stewart has charge of the refreshments. He is assisted by Herbert Woodhouse, Edward Costello and Edward Toward. Dancing was enjoyed from 10 until 12. Music by Mitchell's orchestra. The bazar will continue until Saturday night. Be sure and be on hand for a night of enjoyment with the "vets."

A Card.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warrented Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

DRAMA TO BE GIVEN.

"The Lost Topaz," a comedy drama written by Miss Martha Russell Orne of Lynn and given for the first time at Methuen some weeks ago, will be given in Odd Fellows hall, this town, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 22nd, under the auspices of the Penelope Ketchikan lodge, No. 67, I. O. O. F. The affair should receive a large attendance as the drama is in line with the "Donation Party" given with such success sometime ago.

The arrangements are in the hands of the good of the order committee of which Miss A. Prescott is the chairman. The other members are Mrs. William Halliday, Mrs. E. E. Chesley, Mrs. George L. Harris and Mrs. Charles W. Hinckman.

The author of the comedy is a personal friend of Mrs. P. C. Cook of Methuen. The French part of the French maid from Ireland, Mrs. Cook made a great hit as the colored girl in the Donation Party and many will take in the new play specially to see her.

The cast of characters of "The Lost Topaz" follows:
Mr. Newton, a devoted but jealous husband, Arthur L. Scollay.
Mrs. Newton, his attractive young wife, Mrs. Cora A. Stevens.
Miss Polly Peppergrass, an energetic cousin of uncertain age, Mrs. Mary W. Nice.

Dr. Cyrus Pillsbury, the family physician and rejected suitor of Cousin Polly, Frank A. Gordon.
Joe, a colored stable boy, William A. Pedler.

Mary O'Leary, a French maid from Ireland, Mrs. P. C. Cook.

NAT C. GOODWIN AT THE COLONIAL THEATRE.

Charles Frohman who has recently added America's premier comedian, Nat C. Goodwin to his list of stars, will present him at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, for two weeks, beginning Monday evening next, in the new play made from Alfred Henry Lewis' famous "Wolfville" stories, by Clyde Fitch and Willis Steel. Wolfville is said to be as breezy as the winds which sweep over the Western plains and mountains in which the scenes are laid; and to breathe the very spirit of the wildest days of the pioneer country in its earliest contact with eastern civilization.

From time to time, as they have appeared, we have weighed all the exponents of histrionic art, and every time we have rallied back to the actor as the one man of the American stage possessing the greatest versatility, power and supremest unction.

And now we are to have him in a southwestern comedy drama in which he incarnates an Arizona type that is as original as anything he has ever done.

In "Mizzoura" and "The Cowboy and the Lady," Mr. Goodwin gave types that interested and amazed us to the utmost by his force and naturalness. As Cherokee Hall in Wolfville the critics of Philadelphia and Washington have spoken in terms of praise.

Mr. Frohman has surrounded Mr. Goodwin with what might consistently be called an "all star cast." The mounting of the play is said to be of the usual Frohman excellence. The Colonial for the next two weeks certainly offers a rare treat to its patrons and we are told that a number of theatre parties are making up here to take advantage of it. Seats are now on sale at the Box office.

THE HALF-DOLLAR MUSIC SERIES.

A unique edition and one that will be of interest to all music lovers, whether teachers or students, is the "Half-Dollar Music Series," published by the Oliver Ditson Company. It consists of twenty-six different books, each containing sixty or more pages of music of proven acceptability. Eleven volumes of this series are for piano solo, some being in the very easiest grades for beginners. "Waltzes and Two-steps for the Piano" and "Easy Salon Music," while of a popular order, are not in the same class with the "rag-time" variety, which we regret to say, is found in many homes where one would expect to find music more in keeping with a higher standard of intelligence. Three books of piano duets are among the number, and other volumes are for the violin, mandolin and other instruments. "Thirty Songs for Children" is a book that will furnish entertainment to the little ones for many a long winter evening.

One of the latest additions to the series and a collection that is sure to meet with favor is "Popular Church Organ Pieces," compiled and edited by Hans Lichter. This book comprises fourteen numbers, all of which are eminently suited to the church service. The registration in every number is clearly indicated and they may be played on two manual organs. Raft's "Cavatina," Chopin's "Nocturne in G Minor," "Consolation" and "Spring Song" by Mendelssohn and "Lovely Appearance" from "The Redemption" are among the contents of this book. One organist writes: "I am much pleased with the Church Organ Pieces; the type is good, the form convenient and the pieces therein 'popular' in the best sense of the word."

The prices of the volumes of the series are uniformly 50 cents, as its title implies. This includes postage. A complete catalog of the Half-Dollar Music Series, giving description and the contents of each volume, will be sent free, postpaid, to any address by applying to the Oliver Ditson Company, 151 Tremont Street, Boston.

A Food to Work On

Work! Work!! Work!!!

Lots of energy is needed to keep up the pace. In the struggle, the man with the strong body and clear brain wins out every time.

The man of to-day needs something more than mere food; he needs a food that makes energy—a food to work on.

Although some people may not realize it, yet it is a fact, proved and established beyond doubt, that soda crackers—and this means Uneeda Biscuit—are richer in muscle and fat-making elements and have a much higher per cent. of tissue-building properties than any other article of food made from flour.

That this is becoming known more and more every day is attested by the sale of nearly 400,000,000 packages of Uneeda Biscuit, the finest soda cracker ever baked. An energy-giving food of surpassing value—sold in a package which brings it to you with all the original flavor and nutriment perfectly preserved. Truly the food to work on.

Whoever you are—whatever you are—wherever you work—Uneeda Biscuit.
